1 Course Description

The natural continuation of HB 2201, this course is for those who wish to have a complete introduction to the basics of biblical Hebrew. Students will progress through encounters with less regular paradigms and more complicated syntax, building confidence as they master select readings from Genesis. The goal of the full course series, in two parts, is a proficiency in the rudiments of Hebrew that is sufficient for the independent reading of biblical books.

Prerequisites: HB 2201.

2 Learning Objectives

The basic goal of this course is for students to become proficient in the rudiments of biblical Hebrew, sufficient for the independent reading of biblical books in this language. Students will be given support as they continue to develop their ability to learn Hebrew independently. Building on their initial study in HB 2201 or elsewhere, they will read and translate passages from Genesis (the Joseph Story) as they advance in their ability to read the Hebrew Bible with confidence and understanding.

3 Required Texts & Materials

The following texts are required. Students are strongly encouraged to purchase their own copies. Digital copies are available within Logos. A hard copy of the workbook at least is preferable, since it is filled with worksheets on which you will want to write.

- [Grammar] Karl V. Kutz and Rebekah Josberger. Learning Biblical Hebrew: Reading for Comprehension: An Introductory Grammar. Bellingham, WA: Lexham, 2018. ISBN 978-1683590842. Note that LBH has a companion site with resources for teachers and students.
- [Workbook] Karl V. Kutz and Rebekah Josberger. Learning Biblical Hebrew: A Graded Reader with Exercises. Bellingham, WA: Lexham, 2019. ISBN 978-1683592440.

4 Supplementary Texts

The following works are worth owning and consulting, especially [BHS] and [BDB]. [Making Sense] contains sound advice on core skills like reading religious texts, writing essays and reviews, revising essays, making presentations, and learning languages.

- [BHS] Biblia Hebraica Stuttgartensia. Stuttgart: Deutsche Bibelgesellschaft, 1997. ISBN 978-1598561630. This remains the standard critical edition, though it is gradually being replaced by the BHQ. The paperback student edition is more affordable, but the hardcover is more durable.
- [BDB] Francis Brown, S. R. Driver and C. A. Briggs. The Brown-Driver-Briggs Hebrew and English Lexicon. Peabody, Mass: Hendrickson, 2004 (orig. ed. 1906).
- [Making Sense] Northey, Margot, Bradford A. Anderson, and Joel N. Lohr. Making Sense in Religious Studies: A Student's Guide to Research and Writing. 3rd ed. Toronto: Oxford University Press, 2019. ISBN 978-0199026838.
- [SBLHS2] Collins, Billie Jean, et al. The SBL Handbook of Style. 2nd ed. Atlanta: SBL Press, 2014. ISBN 978-1589839649. See the free Student Supplement.

5 Course Outline

We will adhere to the schedule in Table 1 as closely as possible, though the professor reserves the right to adjust it to suit the needs of the class.

6 Evaluation

The grade structure for HB 2202 has the following elements.

1. Students are expected to read and study all lessons in Chapters 11–23 of the [Grammar], and to complete the accompanying exercises and Hebrew readings in the [Workbook]. Students should use the answer key to correct and evaluate their own work. Assignments will be assessed periodically for completeness only. Students who are taking the course for credit should be prepared to show evidence of their efforts and, if requested, to upload scans (PDFs) or photos of any relevant pages from the [Workbook] to the course website.
2. Quizzes are based on the [Grammar] and [Workbook] assignments. Between six and ten quizzes will be set throughout the course. All quizzes are closed book. Students must take opportunities accurately to assess what they have learned and retained. Continuing education students and auditors are encouraged to participate in these exercises fully by scoring and correcting their own work.
3. Distance students who are taking the course for credit must use a proctor to administer and attest their quizzes. Select someone over the age of 18 to act as your proctor. Instruct them to email your instructor (daniel.driver@astheology.ns.ca) to receive electronic copies of the quizzes for this course. When you are ready to take each quiz, your proctor will provide you with a printed copy of the test materials. Be sure that you include compensation for them to do so, as appropriate. When you are finished with each quiz, the proctor will verify that it was taken as prescribed, attest it by signing their name under your name, and make sure that you submit it online. Please upload each quiz to the correct assignment slot on Teams. You will need to scan each one as a PDF (preferred) or take a digital photo of each page.

AST's Academic Calendar provides guidelines and criteria for academic assessment. Marks are assigned by letter grade using these benchmarks. Note that graduate and undergraduate programs are assessed on a different scales at AST (see Table 3). For graduate students a C grade is deemed “Unsatisfactory,” whereas for undergraduates a C can be satisfactory in different degrees and a D is assigned for “Unsatisfactory” performance.

7 Other Course Policy

Late work will not be accepted, except in genuinely extenuating circumstances. Students must submit something before the deadline if they wish to receive credit. Unless I state otherwise, assignments are to be uploaded by 11:59 PM (Atlantic) on the date indicated.

Essay submissions must be typewritten and double-spaced. They should be free from error. In this course they should follow SBL Style (see [SBLHS2] in section 4, above). As a reminder, AST upholds an Inclusive Language Policy. Please use gender-inclusive language when referring to human beings. Our traditions have different norms for speech about God; you are of course free to follow and explore those traditions when referring to God.

Plagiarism is the failure to attribute (by means of footnotes when writing or aloud when speaking) any ideas, phrases, sentences, materials, syntheses, et cetera, that another author has composed and that you have borrowed for your own work. Plagiarism is unethical. Academic penalties for plagiarism at AST are serious, and may include failure of the course or even suspension of further studies. Unintentional plagiarism is considered plagiarism. AST’s Plagiarism Policy is found under that heading in the Academic Calendar.

Students should request permission to record a class or lecture. If permission is granted, or if recordings are provided (as in the case of an online or hybrid course), I stipulate that all recordings be for personal use only. They may not be shared or distributed.

If you have needs that require modifications to any aspect of this course, please consult with the instructor as soon as possible. Any documentation regarding disabilities that you wish to divulge to AST should be provided to the Registrar’s Office, where it will be kept in a confidential file.

Finally, I encourage the conscientious use of laptops, tablets, and other technology in my classes. In classroom settings, realize that, as cognitive psychologists have demonstrated, “laptop multitasking hinders classroom learning for both users and nearby peers.” Do your part to foster an environment for dialogue by honouring the presence of your classmates. In online and hybrid settings, consider both the physical environment in which you choose to work and the virtual environment that you help create through your participation in various forums. Let your engagement in this course be marked by rigour and charity alike.
