1 Course Description

A more detailed study of Hebrew grammar and syntax through the reading of selected biblical texts, this course is designed as a continuation of HB 2201. For a complete introduction, students will continue through two semesters of study. In the second semester emphasis will fall on verbs, especially the less regular paradigms, and on more complicated syntax. (This course is open to undergraduate students from other universities. Please contact the Registrar to enroll as a Letter of Permission student.)

Prerequisites: HB 2201. This DSt is the equivalent of HB 2202.

2 Learning Objectives

The basic goal of this course is for students to become proficient in the rudiments of biblical Hebrew, sufficient for the independent reading of biblical books in this language. In this Directed Study, students will be given support as they continue to develop their ability to learn Hebrew independently. Building on their initial study in HB 2201, students in this course will read and translate a passages from Genesis (the Joseph Story) as they advance in their ability to read the Hebrew Bible with confidence and understanding.

3 Required Texts & Materials

The following texts are required. Students are strongly encouraged to purchase their own copies. Digital copies are available within Logos. A hard copy of the workbook at least is preferable, since it is filled with worksheets on which you will want to write.

Grammar Karl V. Kutz and Rebekah Josberger. Learning Biblical Hebrew: Reading for Comprehension: An Introductory Grammar. Bellingham, WA: Lexham, 2018. ISBN 978-1683590842. Note that LBH has a companion site with resources for teachers and students.

[Workbook] Karl V. Kutz and Rebekah Josberger. Learning Biblical Hebrew: A Graded Reader with Exercises. Bellingham, WA: Lexham, 2019. ISBN 978-1683592440.

Other required texts and materials will be posted on Microsoft Teams.

Supplementary Texts

The following reference works are worth owning and consulting. [Making Sense] in particular contains sound advice on core skills like reading religious texts, writing essays and reviews, revising essays, making oral presentations, and learning languages.

[BHS] Biblia Hebraica Stuttgartensia. Stuttgart: Deutsche Bibelgesellschaft, 1997. ISBN 978-1598561630. This remains the standard critical edition, though it is slowly being replaced by the BHQ. A paperback edition, marketed to students, is also available, but the hardback is much more durable.

[BDB] Brown, Francis, S. R. Driver and Charles A. Briggs. The Brown-Driver-Briggs Hebrew and English Lexicon. Peabody, Mass: Hendrickson, 2004.

Evaluation and Grade Structure

The grade structure for DSt 2061 has the following elements.

- 1. Students are expected to read and study all lessons in Chapters 11-19 of the [Grammar], and to complete the accompanying exercises in the [Workbook], as outlined in the schedule in Table 1. Students should use the answer key to correct and evaluate their own work. Assignments will be periodically collected and assessed, largely on the basis of completeness.
- 2. Quizzes are based on the Grammar and Workbook assignments. Some number will be set across the semester, depending on the need. Quizzes are closed book. Students must take opportunities to assess what they have learned and retained.
- 3. If it is not possible for distance students to administer their own quizzes, then they should use a proctor to administer and attest their quizzes. Select someone over the age of 18 to act as your proctor. Instruct them to email your instructor (ddriver@astheology.ns.ca) to receive electronic copies of the quizzes for this course. When you are ready to take each quiz, your proctor will provide you with a printed copy of the test materials. Be sure that you include compensation for them to do so, as appropriate. When you are finished with each quiz, the proctor will verify that it was taken as prescribed, attest it by signing their name under your name, and make sure that you submit it online. Please upload each quiz to the correct assignment slot on Teams. You will need to scan each one as a PDF (strongly preferred) or take a photo of each page with your cell phone (if all else fails).
- 4. A final creative project will dramatize the workbook reading in Chapter 19 (a version of Genesis 48), which will be the major focus of tutorial sessions in the last third of the course.

The breakdown for the semester's total work is shown in Table 2.

Workbook	40%
Quizzes	20%
Final Project	40%

Table 2: Distribution of Grades

AST's Academic Calendar provides guidelines and detailed criteria for academic assessment. Marks are assigned by letter grade using these benchmarks (summarized in Table 3). Note that, at AST, a grade of "C" is deemed "Unsatisfactory."

A+	94–100	Exceptional
A	87–93	Outstanding
A-	80–86	Excellent
B+	77–79	Good
B	73–76	Acceptable
B-	70–72	Marginally Acceptable
C	60-69	Unsatisfactory
F	0-59	Failure
FP	0	Failure due to Plagiarism

Other Course Policy

Late work will not be accepted, except in genuinely extenuating circumstances. Students must submit something before the deadline if they wish to receive credit. Unless I state otherwise, written assignments are to be uploaded by 11:59 PM on the date indicated.

Essay submissions must be typewritten, double-spaced, and formatted as PDFs. They should be free from error. In this course they should follow SBL Style (see [SBL2] in section 4, above). As a reminder, AST also upholds an Inclusive Language Policy.

Plagiarism, if detected, will result in failure of the course.

Students should request permission to record a class or lecture. If permission is granted, or if recordings are provided (as in the case of an online course), I stipulate that all recordings be for personal use only. They may not be shared or distributed.

If you have abilities or disabilities that require modifications to the assessment process or other aspects of this course, please advise the course instructor as soon as possible.

Finally, I encourage the conscientious use of laptops, tablets, and other technology in my classes. In classroom settings, realize that, as cognitive psychologists have demonstrated, "laptop multitasking hinders classroom learning for both users and nearby peers." Do your part to foster an environment for dialogue by honouring the presence of your classmates. In online and hybrid settings, consider both the physical environment in which you choose to work and the virtual environment that you help create through your participation in various forums. Let your engagement in this course be marked by rigour and charity alike.
